

Policy Concerning Making Copies of Articles

CMA member organizations are allowed to make up to 15 copies of an article solely for internal use within the organization. Nonmembers are allowed to make one copy solely for the exclusive use of that individual. Any other publication or reproduction of these articles, either in full or in part, and any sale thereof, is prohibited without the express written permission of CMA and the author.

Request for Reprint Rights

Please forward requests for reprint rights to DeWayne@CMAonline.org. Please include the name of the organization making the request, the contact person and their email address, the specific publication and issue where the article will be printed and how many approximate copies will be run. If you plan to print the article separately for distribution, state how you plan to use the article and how many you wish to print. You must receive written permission from CMA before you may proceed with reprinting the article.

Copyright Notice

All reprints will require the following notice to be printed on the article:

© (year of first publication), Christian Management Association, San Clemente, Calif. (www.CMAonline.org).
Printed by permission.